the project

Every year the Leeds Festival and Tribfest Festival attract thousands of music lovers. Keeping the site environmentally friendly is a huge challenge that the Green Messengers try to manage.

RECYCLING - As a Green Messenger you will work to promote recycling, collect cans & plastic bottles and salvage good quality, re-usable camping equipment that has been left in the campsites and which will be shared amongst to charities and community organisations.

RADIO - Volunteers will produce some podcasts on which they will share their experience as EVS volunteers and promote recycling. These podcasts will be published online.

If you love music and don't mind getting your hands dirty, this project is for you!

accommodation and meals

LODGING - During this 2 week project you will be living in a campsite, sharing a tent with other volunteers. Nights can be wet and cold so it is important you bring warm and waterproof clothes. Wellingtons are essential! There will be some outside showers (sometimes with hot water). You will love nights around camp fire and watching free concerts by international rock bands. Around 50 other international young people will be volunteering with you.

MEALS - As you will be living in an isolated location, on a festival site where the food is very expensive, we will provide food on site. On free days you may be given a small allowance to buy meals.

the project place Leeds & Beacons Festival

This project is taking place in 2 venues around Yorkshire, a region famous for its beautiful landscapes.

Being a part of festivals is an amazing experience. Leeds festival is one of the major annual events in the UK attracting around 80,000 people every year. Tribfest is a smaller more exclusive event with around 3,000 attendees. You will have the chance to watch for free some international bands such as Blink 182, Arctic Monkeys, Vampire Weekend and many others. There are lots of entertainments on offer!

the country

System of Government: Constitutional monarchy

Capital: London

Currency: Pound sterling (GBP)

things to keep in mind

- Say please and thank you. This is highly valued in the UK and it can appear rude not to.
- Be on time! Punctuality is considered polite in the UK. Try to call if you are going to arrive late.
- Carry an umbrella! British weather is very unpredictable. If it is sunny in the morning, don't be surprised if it rains in the afternoon!
- Shake hands when meeting someone for the first time. In more informal situations, sometimes no contact is made. Just say "hello" and wait to see if someone offers their hand! Good friends may hug or give one kiss on the cheek.
